New Mileage Rates for 2022

The IRS announced that the optional mileage allowance for owned or leased autos (including vans, pickups or panel trucks) will be 58.5¢ for business travel beginning January 1, 2022 (up 2.5¢ from 2021).

Employers can use this rate to reimburse employees tax-free under an accountable plan if they supply their own autos for business use. It can also be used to value personal use of certain low-cost employer-provided vehicles.

The rate for using a car in 2022 to get medical care or in connection with a move that qualifies as a moving expense is 18¢ per mile (up 2¢ from 2021).

The rate for driving on behalf of charitable organizations remains unchanged at 14¢ per mile.
